Figure 1 displays a series of 12 line drawings illustrating the development of a child's drawing of a house from age 2 to age 10. The drawings are arranged vertically, with the youngest at the top and the oldest at the bottom. Each drawing is labeled with its corresponding age on the right side. The progression shows the development of various features: a simple vertical line for a wall at age 2, the addition of a roof at age 3, a chimney at age 4, a door at age 5, a window at age 6, a fence at age 7, a garden at age 8, a path at age 9, and a more detailed house with a porch and a tree at age 10.
